THRILLING STORY OF RESCUE OF CREW STEAMER WIDLAR

CAPTAIN OF STRANDED STEAMER GOES IN SMALL BOAT TO SECURE HELP

(By United Press)
Sault Ste. Marie, Nov. 16—How a captain set out in a small boat in the storm seeking aid for his ship fast on Pancake Shoals, has been told by the rescuing party of the Becker line freighter, the "Francis J. Widlar."

Out of a crew of 33, there have been brought to port in safety 22 men, who landed here last night. The tug "Iowa" set out for the Soo and the remainder of the crew it is expected will be brought home in the "Ainsworth."

The "Widlar" grounded on the shoals Friday night. The crew took refuge in the forward end and was without food for a long time, as they could not make their way to the stern end.

Alexander Stevens, steward, went out late Saturday and was nearly washed overboard before he made the return trip with food. An improvised stove using furniture for fuel enabled him to prepare rations.

The captain and five of his best oarsmen set out Sunday night for aid. The "Livingston" picked them up. Later Capt. Arthur Forbes boarded the tug "Ainsworth" and assisted in rescuing his crew.

According to Cleveland, Ohio, home port of the vessel, reports the "Widlar" is to be salvaged.

After the dinner was over, the hostess said she would sign the check. When she had written her name she turned to the waitress and said: "Perhaps I should tell you that I am Mrs. Blank, so there will be no mistake. My handwriting is rather illegible."

DISTRICT COURT PROCEEDINGS

James Dibble Star Witness of the State in Cigarette Robbery, Tells His Story

HOW WAREHOUSE WAS ENTERED

Four Trips Made by Himself and Martin Sorenson and Cigarettes,
Snuff, Gum Taken

In district court the case of Gus Holevas, charged with receiving stolen property, continues to be heard by Judge W. S. McClenahan.

Officers Erick Graff and Oscar Ri-berg told of what they knew concerning the robbery of the Brainerd Grocery Co. cigarettes alleged to have been carried out by James Dibille and Martin Sorenson, of their accompanying Dibble under a platform of a front street elevator to where two of the stolen cartons were recovered, of unearthing the cache of cigarette cartons near the Sorenson farm, etc.

Dibble on the stand was a good witness for the state and told his story directly and bore up well under cross examination. He and Sorenson went to the Brainerd Grocery Co.
warehouse on the Sunday night, broke open the window and examined the interior. Later three trips were made, said he, taking cigarettes, snuff, gum, etc. from the place.

It took an hour to drive out to the Sorenson place on Oak street and back. Some four cases tobacco and snuff, etc., were taken the first trip.
On the second trip eight cases of cigarettes were taken. On the third load several cases were planted on Front street.

He testified as to the relations of himself and Sorenson with Holevas.
Following him George Rardin took the stand. It was due to Mr. Rar-din's initiative that the first inkling was secured as to recovery of cigarettes and those believed involved in the affair.

Mrs. Martin Sorenson, wife of the man who escaped, gave testimony and later in the afternoon was recalled for examination.

NEW BOAT MATERIAL

Naval architects and boat builders declare that a new laminated wood has been worked out by scientists which will in all probability revolutionize the building of all kinds of boats in the future.

The new material is very light and consists of many sheets of veneer fastened together with marine glue until it is stronger than steel and of equal weight. It can be steamed and bent to any desired shape and will retain its shape in water without shrinkage or swelling for years.

Experiments which have been made with the construction of small hulls out of this new material indicate that a racing hull built of it will be a great deal lighter than ordinary wood, and will be many times stronger, it being practically impossible to hammer a hole through its surface. For this reason risk of striking floating objects will not hold the same terror for race boat drivers as in the past when striking meant a sunken boat. Canoes of standard sizes have been constructed out of this new material and nearly two tons of weight put upon them, with the canoe supported by boxes at either end. The canoe itself weighed under sixty pounds. This is considered many times the weight that would be sustained by a steel or ordinary wood canoe of the same size.

This new hull material will be only one of the many exhibits of interest to motor boatmen at the National Motor Boat, Ship and Engine Show to be held at Grand Central Palace,
New York City, Dec. 10th to 18th.

Truly an Enchantress.

A writer of her times describes Mary, Queen of Scots as follows:
"Other women might be beautiful, other women might have the same smooth, open brow; the same chiseled features and penciled eyebrows, the same delicate chin and white, full neck and bosom; ay, even the same long, soft, hazel eyes, and rich, dark, chestnut hair; but where was the woman in Europe whose glance, like hers, raised from under those sweeping eyelashes, found its way straight to the heart, whose smile seemed at once to entreat aid, to command, to extort obedience and bestow reward, like sunlight penetrating the coldest object and warming and brightening all within its sphere?"

WE have recently purchased a substantial block of Minnesota Soldiers' Bonus Bonds and are now

Due to present financial conditions, these bonds, which must be at a substantial loss. Our charge of $3.75 per $100 of bonus covers this loss upon resale and includes also a small service charge for handling the business.

If your bonus claim has been approved and you care to accept an early adjustment on the basis outlined, then either

(1) Consult your local banker. Many banks throughout the State are co-operating with us in this plan and we prefer that they handle your claim if you have no objection.

or

(2) If you prefer to file your claim direct with us, just fill out completely blank below and mail back to us at once.

This offer is open to all Minnesota ex-service men whose claims have been approved, wherever located. Early action in the matter is essential, however, as this offer will be left open for a limited time only.

BRAINERD MUSICAL CLUB MEETING

Hostesses Saturday Were Mesdames Ezra Smith, H. P. Dunn, W. H. Cleary, J. O'Brien, Woodhead

MISS LANGTRY WAS SOLOIST

Particular Pleasing Feature Was the Large Number of Student Members Present

The Brainerd Musical club held its first meeting in its new home on Saturday. The hostesses, Mrs. Ezra Smith, Mrs. H. P. Dunn, Mrs. W. H. Cleary, Mrs. Jay O'Brien and Mrs. John F. Woodhead, made the occasion a genuine house warming. The hall was beautifully decorated with flowers and oriental rugs, and filled with smiling, expectant faces.

The only draw-back was that one of the steam radiators rather overdid its house-warming act by furnishing a hissing accompaniment during nearly two-thirds of the program. This was very difficult to sing against, and both the soloist and the accompanist deserve great credit for performing at all with such a handicap.

When the steam was finally shut off, and the audience was able to hear the soft, mellow quality of Miss Langtry's tones, she was generously encored. "Christ in Flanders," was the encore that brought her nearest to the hearts of her audience. But perhaps her best work was done in her last two numbers, "Rain," by Curran, and "The Eagle," by Busch.

Although the audience was disappointed in not hearing the piano solo that was on the program, most of the accompaniments were as difficult as solos. That of "Chanson Norweigienne" was a regular Tarantelle, representing a peasant dance that began slowly but got faster and faster, until its tempo became as wild as the heart of the dancer who poured out her plaint in song. The hum of the mill wheel, the roar of the sea, the voice of the wind and the patter of rain were all represented in these accompaniments, and all required peculiar and difficult technique of which Mrs. Walter F. Wieland proved herself master.

A particularly pleasing feature of this meeting was the large number of student members in attendance. The president, Mrs. D. M. Clark, announced that the club was larger by four members than last year—its membership being two hundred and fifty-six—but that its student membership had doubled. This is certainly an encouraging sign as it is only by infusion of young blood that such an organization can hope for long life.

After an earnest appeal by Mrs. W. H. Gemmell, the club endorsed the Sheppard-Towner bill which will furnish instruction and care for rural mothers and babies with a view to lowering the appalling death rate of infants and of mothers in child-birth. This will should not be confused with the Smith-Towner educational bill.

Synopsis of Sheppard-Towner Bill

This bill provides for a federal appropriation for the use of the states accepting the provisions of the act and undertaking public measures for the protection of mothers and children. The amount of appropriation is to be $2,000,000 for the first year, the sum to be gradually increased until it reaches $4,000,000 annually. It will be apportioned among the states in the proportion which their population bears to the total population of the United States, provided that each state appropriates a like sum. In addition to this sum, the bill provides for an annual appropriation of $480,000 to be divided equally among the states without guarantee of a like sum.

The act is to be administered by a federal board of maternal and infant hygiene to consist of the secretary of labor, chairman; the chief of the Children's Bureau, executive officer; the surgeon general of the U. S. Public Health Service, and the U. S. commissioner of education. Plans for state work must be submitted to and approved by this board.

The administration of the act in the states is to be in the hands of a specially created state Board of Maternal and Infant Hygiene or of the State Board of Health in those states having a child welfare or child hygiene division in connection with that board. The federal board may request the co-operating state board to appoint advisory committees, both state and local, to assist in carrying out the act. At least half of the members of these committees must be women.

The work done under the act must include instruction in the hygiene of maternity and infancy through public health nurses, consultation centers and other suitable methods and the provision of medical and nursing care for mothers and infants at home or at a hospital when necessary, especially in remote regions. The act provides for the co-operation of the state board with the state universities or land grant colleges in furnishing popular, untechnical instruction in the hygiene of maternity and infancy and kindred subjects.

Madrid Laundry Women.

The laundry women of Madrid are probably the finest of their profession in the world. Nowhere else does the linen come home so delightfully clean and it is all accomplished with cold water. Within sight of the windows of the royal palace any day of the week, including Sundays, may be seen here after here of snow-white linen spread out to dry along the banks of the Manzanares. In the turbulent waters of this creek, for it is nothing more in spite of its sonorous name, virtually all the washing for the million or so inhabitants of Madrid is done.

THE HOME RULE BILL

It was ominous for the fate of the new Irish home rule bill that its final passage by the British House of Commons was described as a purely perfunctory proceeding on the part of "a small and rather listless gathering of members." The liberal and labor members were absent. Most of those present seemed to feel the helplessness of it.

Yet there are big things offered in that measure, things which a few years ago might have set the Irish people of all the world aflame with enthusiasm. It makes Ireland virtually independent in the local affairs which particularly concern that country, much after the manner of the "dominion home rule" established in Canada, Australia, South Africa and New Zealand.

There are to be two parliaments, one for north Ireland and one for south Ireland, with a council appointed by the two and designed to unite their activities. Ireland is to have control of its own education, land policy, transportation, old age pensions, insurance and other domestic affairs, leaving to the British parliament only matters of imperial and international character, such as peace and war, army and navy, coinage, postoffices, navigation and foreign commerce. The policing system, including the Irish constabulary and the metropolitan police force of Dublin, are to come under Irish control in three years. Contributions to the support of the empire are to cease in two years.

All this, however, it is practically certain the Irish will refuse. They will refuse it almost unanimously. Two things they object to particularly: The governmental partition of Ireland, and the reservations the British government has made for the avowed protection of "the vital interests of the United Kingdom."

Even these, a few years since, would hardly have been insuperable. Now it is too late, Lloyd George himself sadly admits that while he considers the bill "a generous measure," he realizes that "the Irish people are not in position to give it proper consideration." The blundering of the British government in Ireland have gone too far, as enlightened Englishmen themselves confess, and what will come now no man knows.

ARTIFICIAL PRICE-FIXING

Many American farmers are trying to boost the price of wheat by withholding their crops from the market for the present. If all, or half, of the wheat-growers were to unite in this effort, it would probably have some effect, but even then not for long. Wheat is a world commodity. Its price is fixed in the world market, according to the ratio of supply and demand. The world's great wheat markets know how much wheat there is, and where it is, and to what extent it will meet the demand. They also know that sooner or later it will start to move freely, and the price then, if it has been disturbed at all by local meddling, will find its natural level.

Wheat brokers at Chicago have been asking the federal government to put an embargo on importations of wheat from Canada, with the same benevolent purpose of forcing up the price of American wheat. This action also would be futile, if the government were to undertake it. Both Canada and the United States are exporters of wheat. The price in the world market, which becomes, with only slight variations, the price in every local market, is determined by the surplus available for exportation. The United States itself is exporting wheat right along, and presumably will continue doing so as long as it has any excess supply. Canada has 100,000,000 bushels to export, which if it is not sold in the United States will be sold in England, and will affect the American price just the same.

Wheat-growers and corn-growers and producers of other staples, might as well face this economic fact philosophically. Nothing that any individual or any group can do is going to have much effect in establishing the average price which their product is going to bring in the markets of this big economic union, the modern world of industry and commerce. About all that producers can hope to do is to avoid letting their crops go, locally or temporarily, at less than the average price for the season, before that price has been determined. If the farmers can merely avoid "dumping" their crops the moment they are reaped, and market them slowly and regularly, they will get the world market price, which is all they can hope to get.

The "The Court of King Cole," by local talent, under the auspices of the American Legion, soon, and under the direction of Mrs. Harriet Purdy Smith, will be a magnificent success, is now assured. A full cast has been recruited and talent is being brought out rapidly. The play is a spectacular musical extravaganza. Its choruses run the entire gamut from the popular to the classic, from pleasing comedy to the more serious situations. Rehearsals for this popular play promise a brilliant amateur performance which will have none of the tiresome features, and all the evidence of perfect training of the professional stage.

The cast will number over 100 and will be a brilliant array of clever young people, with plenty of pretty songs and choruses enlivened by gorgeous costumes designed especially for not only the leading characters, but the chorus as well. Daily afternoon and evening rehearsals are being held, and the tuneful choruses have already acquired the proper swing and vim, and the solos the required individuality.

The piece opens with an up-to-date lyric, first part, introducing the leading solos. The funny features are the Hooty Dooties whom Mother Goose has chosen for the high factotums of her kingdom and these important personages, in their endeavor to manage the affairs of state, and marry off the eligible girls of the kingdom, get into a general mixup with the Shepherdesses, who think it quite up-to-date to choose their own husbands, without any interference from the King, Mother Goose or any high factotum business.

Incidental to the performance, a number of clever specialties are introduced, which are much provoking, as well as a picturesque part of the program. The company is under the best possible training, and the public can anticipate a very clever production.

NORTHWEST NEWS

Upper Mississippi Valley Waterway Association Meets

Minneapolis, Nov. 16.—The first official meeting of the Upper Mississippi Valley Waterway association convened here today. The meeting was postponed from last week.

Shippers and business men from every section of the northwest were here to lay plans for re-opening of freight traffic on the Father of Waters. Traffic died down years ago and shippers now are feeling the need of its resumption, according to W. P. Trickett of the Minneapolis Traffic association, president of the association.

"The present high level of railroad freight rates and general inefficiency of the railroad transportation systems, make imperatively necessary the immediate employment of the upper Mississippi as a transportation highway," said the call for the meeting.

SIMPLEST THINGS

You know the simplest things have been the longest awaiting discovery. Mergenthaler had his wonderful typesetting machine perfected for several years—all but the simplest thing about it. And a few years ago Dr. Palmer, of Davenport, discovered the spine is the keyboard to health, and he and others have perfected the theory of spinal adjustments until now it is a DEMONSTRATED FACT that the cause of disease is in the spine, and Chiropractic Vertebral adjustments eliminate this cause in the majority of human afflictions.

TAX LEVY IS STUMBLING BLOCK

Council Cannot Agree on How Many Mills to Levy on City for the Coming Year

ALDERMEN STRICKLER MICHAEL

President and Vice President of the Council Head Discussion on Tax Levy Needs of City

The council met in its second regular session of the month Monday evening, with all members present at roll call except Aldermen Lyons and Koop, who both came in shortly after.

Pool Table License

On motion of Aldermen Rasch and A. G. Anderson, duly carried, the application of W. H. Britton for a renewal of his pool table at 1109 East Oak street was granted, subject to the approval of the mayor.

Reports of the chief of police and city nurse were read and ordered filed.

H. S. Nelson filed notice that he was an unpaid creditor of the Circular Concrete Co. to the extent of $100.85 and interest from and after Sept. 18, 1920. This was for labor furnished in plastering the reservoir at the new pumping station site and takes the place of a previous claim filed for the same work amounting to $206.05. On motion of Aldermen Michael and Andrew Anderson, carried, it was referred to the city attorney to report at next meeting.

Grade Unchanged

A letter from County Auditor C. W. Mahlum was read relating to the Oak street railway crossing. At a meeting of the county board Nov. 6 this was taken up with members of the council, and Minnesota Highway department, and after due consideration, the motion carried to let the grade stand as it is.

On motion of Aldermen A. G. Anderson and Andrew Anderson, carried, the action of the county board was approved.

Paving Matters

Mr. Moos of McCree, Moos & Co. was present and asked about the status of South Seventh street paving between Front and Laurel streets and of Laurel between Seventh and Eighth streets. After some discussion as to financing, it was moved by Aldermen Michael and Rasch that it be referred to the city attorney to report at the next meeting.

City Attorney R. T. Campbell spoke about allowing progress estimates for crushed rock on South Seventh and Laurel streets. McCree Moos & Co. wanted to get their rock hauled here in time to start as soon as possible in the spring. On motion of Aldermen Andrew Anderson and Rasch, carried, the matter was referred to the finance committee.

A letter of Ed. Johnson & Sons, contractors on the Oak street paving addressed to C. L. Mott, county engineer, asking for an extension of time to July 31, 1921, was read by the city engineer. He also read a letter in regard to liability by the contractor for possible accidents, in which it was stated that the subcontractor, Riches, was carrying insurance against possible hazards in connection with the work. No action was taken in regard to extension of time.

On motion of Aldermen Michael and Koop, carried, the city attorney is to look into the matter of the liability of the city in case of accidents on account of the Oak street paving.

City Engineer Campbell read a letter on the status of Oak street paving, giving the amount of material used.

Hose House

Alderman A. G. Anderson spoke about the Southeast Brainerd hose house needing repairs. Mr. Bostrom is to be paid $17.50 for repairing road.

Repairs are to be made to catch basins on 13th street between Pine and Quince.

Tax Levy

The proposed tax levy of the city furnished material for discussion lasting hours, and then no decisive action was taken.

Alderman H. F. Michael, chairman of the finance committee, presented the proposed tax levy for the coming year, amounting to 24.60 mills. This provided for an emergency fund tax of 2.75 mills. Mr. Michael explained that the new bonds and certificates issued had raised the interest rate levy from 2.75 mills to 4.60 mills. One mill taxation raises about $3,000.

President Strickler did not want any emergency fund levy as he thought it would make the tax levy too high. Thereupon, he relinquished the president's chair to Vice President Michael and offered the following:

$5,000 SCHOOL BONDS RETIRED

Retiring State Bonds Before Maturity is an Act of Double Advantage to Citizens

SAVES THE DISTRICT INTEREST

It Also Saves the Added Tax Levy to Retire Maturing Bonds—Plan Benefits Brainerd

At a recent meeting of the Brainerd school board definite action was taken accepting the recommendation made by the finance committee that $5,000 bonds due July 1, 1921 held by the state of Minnesota be retired from the balance on hand in the sinking fund. A remittance for the amount has since been made to the state and the bonds paid.

Retiring state bonds before maturity is an act of double advantage to citizens. First, it saves the district the interest, and second, which is more important at this particular time, it saves the added tax levy to retire maturing bonds. The levy for the coming year will necessarily be over ten mills more than last year and consequently this saving of two or more mills as an extra burden will certainly be a relief to the tax payers.

The district has $10,000 additional bonds maturing July 1st next which are held by others than the state. The balance on hand in the sinking fund together with the amount to be received from the next two tax settlements it is expected will be sufficient to retire that special maturity.

Such methods should place the Brainerd school district in a strong and favorable position when offering future bond issues and may help greatly when the proper time arrives to consider the issuance of bonds for a new high school building.

THE COUNTY NURSE IS AIDED

Several Little Accessories Voted for Her Benefit—Prepare for 4th Roll Call

The annual meeting of the Directors of the Red Cross for the purpose of electing officers for the ensuing year was held Monday at four o'clock at the Chamber of Commerce rooms.

The entire old staff of officers was elected and several of the directors expressed their gratification at the result. Mrs. Thabes in accepting the re-election said, "I am glad if the directors feel that I have done my work well, I am glad and am willing to go on with it for another year. I am especially anxious now that the war time activities are over, that the work we have been able lately to inaugurate, namely the securing and putting into the field a County Red Cross Nurse, be carried through properly and with credit to the county. We shall have to depend upon the success of this fourth roll call and the hearty support of the people for the doing of this. Miss Grimes has been able to accomplish a lot by way of really constructive work for the county."

Both Mr. LaBar and Mr. Scherich signified their pleasure and willingness to go on for another year with the work of the chapter.

Several little accessories were voted for the benefit of the county nurse. The fourth roll call was on and your enthusiastic support is asked.

DESERTER LIST NOT VERY LONG

ONLY 173,911 OUT OF A TOTAL OF 24,000,000 REGISTRANTS UN-DER DRAFT LAW.

NOT ALL ACTUALLY GUILTY

Many of Them, Through Ignorance or for Various Innocent Reasons, Failed to Report, Though Not Willfully Evading Service.

By JAMES P. HORNADAY.

Washington.—Out of a total of 24,000,000 registrants under the selective draft law of 1917, 173,911 is the maximum number that is chargeable with willful desertion, the War department says. This is considerably less than one per cent of the total registration. The number is not large considering the ignorance and illiteracy of certain classes and the vast army that obeyed their orders of induction. Tremendous improvement was shown over the draft record of the Civil war, when 776,829 men were drafted and 161,244 failed to report, and when only 46,347 draft soldiers actually entered the ranks of the army, although others hired substitutes.

It is not to be understood that this entire number of 174,000 can be convicted of desertion, or that all were actually guilty of deliberate desertion.

In various ways certain registrants have been charged with desertion who in fact did not desert, but through ignorance neglected to keep in touch with their local boards, or for various reasons failed to report for military duty without willfully intending to evade service.

Registered but Didn't Report.

The men concerned registered and each gave his address as being resident of his local draft district. When the time came to call these men for service their induction orders were mailed to them at the post-office addresses given by them at time of registration. The registrant himself, and the registrant alone, was responsible that his draft board be kept informed of his address and of any change in his address. Thus those men who failed to report for service have at best, to some extent, misconducted themselves and neglected performing their full duty. The selective service records of the men on the consolidated list of draft deserters do not indicate any circumstances palliating their failure to report for military service as ordered. In general, in the cases of men on the consolidated list, not until the man appears before the military authorities and a thorough personal examination is made of the circumstances of the case, can it be determined whether mitigating circumstances exist sufficient to exempt him from trial.

The names of willful deserters were combed from the total number reported as draft deserters in order that they might be published to the country and vigorous steps could be taken to apprehend such men and to fully investigate such cases on their merits, and if the investigation shows that the men were guilty of willful evasion of military service bring them to trial.

May Receive Discharge.

If, after full investigation, it is not believed that the offense of willful desertion can be proved against any man, yet he did fail to report for military service as ordered, due to neglect or fault on his part, the war department policy is to give him a discharge stating that "this man failed to report for duty until posted as a draft deserter and until after the signing of the armistice, and performed no military service whatsoever in the war with Germany."

Unless the government gives such a man a discharge the man is liable to be re-arrested as a draft deserter and the government be put to the trouble and expense of rehandling his case, though it had been decided as the result of its first investigation not to bring him to trial.

Pending publication of the list of deserters, any man who may be charged with draft desertion and who wishes to avoid the humiliation of arrest by police officials and removal to camp, may voluntarily surrender at the nearest army camp, post, or station, in order that his case may be investigated and his status be definitely fixed. Any man who has his case finally disposed of prior to the time the consolidated list of draft deserters is to be published will have his name removed from such list, so that it will contain only the names of men whose cases have not yet been disposed of.

The second group of 151,000 men classified as not properly chargeable with desertion are in general not to have their names published to the country with a view to their apprehension and trial.

Instructed.

The doctor's children and their neighbors were having a riotous game of "animal." The big library table was surrounded by lions, bears, elephants and grey gazelles. Only Miriam had not chosen her beast.

"Hurry up, Miriam," shouted the other children. "Get in the game."

"Well," said Miriam, "I do not want to be a common animal like a tiger or a dog; I guess I'll be a germ."

"Aw, come off," said her brother. "A germ ain't an animal. It is a plant."

Interesting Prehistoric Relic.

A discovery that throws light on prehistoric times has been made in central France. In the cave of the "Three Brothers," at Montesquieu, a wall painting, made in elemental colors of black and yellow, has been found by savants. It is apparently 15,000 years old. It represents a man, walking to the left, naked and bearded with stripes. His body is leaning forward, with his arms in front, and hands joined. On his head is a sort of mask representing a stag, and a horse's tail is bound on his loins. Professor Bégouin believes it represents a primitive sorcerer in the exercise of his mysteries, and that the cave in question was a prehistoric wizard's den.

It is conjectured the cave was walked up with its occupants during a volcanic eruption countless thousands of years ago.

ARMY HOSPITALS DO GREAT WORK

IN EIGHTEEN MONTHS NEARLY 60,000 SOLDIERS HAVE BEEN SUCCESSFULLY TREATED.

FEW PATIENTS NOW REMAIN

Only Eight Hospitals Now Operating and They Are Not Full—War Department's System of Rehabilitation Has Been Satisfactory.

By JAMES P. HORNADAY.

Washington.—Eighteen months ago there were 61,640 soldier patients undergoing treatment in the army general hospitals in the United States, and of this number 28,500 or 43 per cent were receiving the benefits of reconstruction treatment. By last December this number had fallen to 17,950, of whom 11,875 or 65 per cent were undergoing reconstruction. On July 1 of this year 6,751 remained in the hospitals, and of this number 4,808 or 71 per cent were undergoing reconstruction. September 15, when the latest reports were made from the hospitals, only 3,629 enlisted men and 457 officers remained under treatment in the army general hospitals.

Of the enlisted men, only 1,116, and of the officers only 190 were overseas patients. The percentage of those in hospitals who are receiving reconstruction treatment is steadily increasing, while the number of war patients is constantly decreasing. Only the other day the secretary of war announced that the army has now nearly completed its task of treating the sick and wounded of the world war. That the system adopted and followed by the war department for the rehabilitation of the disabled soldiers has been productive of highly satisfactory results is evidenced by the volume of letters received at the department expressing the appreciation of patients, parents and relatives.

Most of the Patients Cured.

"What has become of all of those thousands of shell-torn, shell-shocked, and shell-racked patients that looked to Uncle Sam to restore them to a useful status?" asked the secretary of war the other day, in discussing the work done for the disabled soldiers. Answering his own question, the secretary said: "A few have made the supreme sacrifice and have gone to join their comrades who perished on the field of battle or in the hospitals of France. The vast majority, however, have been discharged either as cured or as having reached the maximum improvement expected in their individual cases. Why do we see so few on the streets with crutches at the present time? It is because the former service man with a missing leg has been supplied by the government with the finest type of artificial limb, which permits him to walk about unnoticed with men of normal extremities."

The chain of army hospitals established in this country during the world war has gradually dwindled until only eight remain. These are at Hot Springs, Ark.; Denver, Colo.; Washington, D. C.; San Francisco, Cal.; Staten Island, N. Y.; Ft. McPherson, Ga.; Ft. Sheridan, Ill.; and Oteen, N. C. None of these hospitals is now operating at capacity. All that has been said here refers to the government's care for soldiers still on its payroll. Of the vast force of 4,000,000 soldiers demobilized since November, 1918, many still require hospital treatment, and many others, the government assumes, will at some future time require treatment for conditions resulting from their military service. The care of these discharged soldiers does not devolve on the war department, but under congressional legislation is placed in the hands of the bureau of war-risk insurance, which is a branch of the treasury department.

New Features in Hospitals.

As the great military hospitals developed there came a number of innovations which were hitherto unknown in the hospital world. The war department, Secretary Baker pointed out, found it necessary to make arrangements to entertain the families and friends of soldiers returning wounded from France, and who would, on account of their physical infirmities, be unable to visit their homes. With this end in view, there was established in connection with every hospital rooms at a hostess house, where parents and other members of the family could be accommodated at a nominal charge. This plan worked out admirably.

At some of the hospitals another novelty appeared in the form of a day nursery. Relatives sometimes came to those institutions accompanied by infants and children, and since it was manifestly undesirable to have children of tender age remain in wards with the sick for indefinite periods, nurseries were established.

Entertainment for the hospital patients was regularly provided. At present moving picture shows, amateur and professional performances, boxing bouts and other amusements are provided in the eight army hospitals still in operation.

Wife Took Up Husband's Duties.

When the forest lookout on Tahquitz peak, in the San Jacinto district, California, was incapacitated this fall Mrs. Reinhold, wife of the district ranger, donned khaki, loaded blankets and grub on a horse, and took over his duties, holding the lookout post for more than a week. This is one of the incidents reported to the United States Department of Agriculture through the forest service.

CIGARETTES

Dallas, Texas, Sunday.

DEAR OLD BOY PETE!

This corner of the U. S. mainland is so wonderful in its bigness and bustle I guess I go mouth wide open and eyes staring! Why, Pete, Texans don't talk in miles—it doesn't mean anything! They'll tell you that this place, or that, is an all-day trip, or two days and a night distant, etc. And, old yardstick, you've got the feet, just let it sink in deep that Texas is not only over 800 miles wide but it is our fifth state in population!

Heard a bird in the Adolphus Hotel say that when he comes off the west border he figures he's close home to Baltimore when he's across the Lone Star State! Talk about "jumps"! Try a few, say the one between Texarkana and El Paso!

Pete, everything grows big down here—business as well as folks' hearts! I like the way they never forget! Here I was walking on Main Street yesterday when as fine a type of man as ever wore one of those broad Texas smiles came up to me. "How are you, lieutenant?" says he. "Maybe you'll call back that day at Camp Dick when I brought over that bunch of Camel Cigarettes for the boys," he continued. Right then a Camel conference opened!

Golly, Pete, this party coins Camel compliments faster than the mint makes money! "Lieutenant," says he, "I know when I'm 'set'! I've smoked cigarettes for five years! (NOW LISTEN, PETER!) I know Camels and I know their marvellous mild, mellow body and refreshing flavor and wonderful Turkish and Domestic blend! A million Camels wouldn't tire a smoker's taste! Now, Pete, I'll say that's some testifying!

Sincerely

Shorty.
